

A Dog Saved Christmas

Santa and his elves were working at the North Pole but one elf was a stable elf and he hated reindeer!

So he tried to make a toy robot but it went wrong and the magic berries fell and the reindeer ate the berries and the elf fell from the hayloft and into the sled and the reindeer flew off.

The reindeer flew over L.A. and Santa's bag fell and the elf landed on a tree.

A famous dog saw the elf falling and the 15 year old kid was holding the dog named Solley. Solley ran to the elf and the 15 year old kid named Rylan ran after Solley.

Then Solley stopped and Rylan looked up and saw the elf. Then Rylan got the elf and the elf told Rylan what happened. So Rylan and Solley and the elf went to look for the bag. But a bad guy saw it on the highway and he took it with him and there was a dog there.

Rylan and Solley and the elf looked there and the dog saw the bad guy and the dog barked, the elf can talk to dogs and the elf did and the dog said the bad guy took the bag and I know where he went. So they found the bad guy and stole the bag back and so the elf went to Rylan's house and took the fake sled and gave the two dogs Solley and Rolly and fed the dogs the magic berries and the dogs flew back to the north pole and Santa brought back the two dogs and delivered all of the presents. Rylan and his mom and dad and two dogs lived happy ever after.

Letter To Santa

Dear Santa Claus,
Hi my name is Mikka Heide. I am eight years old and I live on a farm. I am half way through grade three. I have one sister and a brother also a mom and dad. I was born in Regina, Sask. in 2009 on June 20th.

I love baking in the kitchen. I can make sugar cookies and reindeer chow. I would bake all of the food for the Elves, Santa and Mrs. Claus. I can make anything that you ask. I can make the most best baking.

I will have to always try my hardest. I will still have to make my cookies good! I would need all of the ingredients! I would need to know how to make a nice and chewy cookie.

Sincerely,
Mikka Heide

The Sneaky Elves On Christmas

"Hurry or you'll be late," called Beck's mom. So Beck got dressed and brushed his teeth combed his black hair and went out the door. Jade was waiting for him. They were in the same class.

When school was done Beck and Jade went to Beck's house.

They found out that Jade's family was staying for Christmas.

So they played some board games with Beck's, mom Lola and Jade's dad, Oscar.

They played Yahtzee and Monopoly. They had lots of fun. Beck said, "Why don't we watch a movie?" "Yeah," replied everyone.

So Jade and Beck found some movies to watch. The Grinch was one of them and Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer was one of them. They all decided on the Grinch.

After the movie was playing they made popcorn but they didn't know that the elves where watching them. Their names were Sneaky and Sleepy. Jade and Beck didn't know the elves' plan was to steel their presents.

After the movie was over and Beck and Jade's family went to bed.

The elves quickly grabbed the presents. They woke up Jade and Beck.

The kids grabbed Sneaky and Sleepy and locked them in a cage. Jade and Beck insisted they were to give the presents back and say sorry or they will never be seen again. The elves agreed. So everyone had a nice Christmas after all.

Merry Christmas to all and all a good night!

CRAZY Christmas!

Last year Santa forgot ME! Probably the only house that was forgotten, but then he came! Today is Christmas Day. I just woke up and I am super scared! What happens if Santa forgot me again? Well time to look. Oh boy, Santa did something really important. He left a reindeer! Yay! I'm going to ask it what its name is. He said his name is Dasher. I grabbed him some carrots, he loves them! What is that sound? I hear it coming from the roof. OMG, it's Santa! I better get sleeping! Wait, why is Santa here again? Oh yah, he forgot Dasher! Ok, he is gone. Time to go back to the living room. I was right. Why did Santa come?

Dasher is still here, but I just realized something else, my stocking is full yay! Where is my dog Bailey? I can't find her! Really? Santa is here AGAIN! But this time he has BAILEY! Ok this time I'm staying in the living room, to trade animals. Here is Dasher and BAILEY! I missed you sooo much girl! Who's a good girl? You're a good girl! Want a COOKIE? Let's get a cookie!

THE END!

John's Christmas

John was a very good boy. He helped his dad hang up the Christmas lights every year. He helped his mom put up the Christmas tree every year! There was no denying John was an amazing little boy. John never got coal in his stocking, John never talked back to his parents, John never got detentions at school, and most importantly, John never, ever stopped believing in Santa. He was an amazing kid.

While John was being an amazing kid, Santa and his elves and some of the reindeer were preparing for Christmas. The elves were making toys like toy trains, teddy bears, dolls, video games, game tablets, hockey sticks and much, much, more.

The reindeer were showering themselves in magical flying dust, and Santa was burning off the cookies from last year. Everybody was sure that this was going to be the best Christmas in a long time.

It was December 24th, the day before Christmas. John had to go to school but he was still excited for Christmas. When the bell rang, everybody ran inside the school for class.

John went to his grade 4 classroom and usually his classmates would be talking to one another however, today they were surprisingly quiet. They must have been excited too. Mr. Lindholme started handing out the tests, and John realized he had completely forgotten to study!

When John gave his test back to Mr. Lindholme, he was super nervous on what his mark would be. When John got his paper back he was crushed. He had received his first...F!

Santa had just arrived at John's house and he had landed a little rough because he brought Bob instead of Rudolph. He shimmied down the chimney and put the presents under the tree and checked to see if everyone was still asleep. When Santa got to John's room, John was still awake. They were staring at one another speechless, frozen in fear.

Suddenly a sack went over John's head. For some reason John couldn't yell for help. He couldn't speak at all! Santa must've given John a silence spell. John was too scared to talk anyways. Santa brought John to the North Pole and raised John as an elf from that day on.

Christmas message from the leader of the official opposition

Hello everyone, and Merry Christmas.
 I've always loved the holiday season and now, as an MLA, I have the honour and privilege of visiting with the young and young at heart as families and communities come together to enjoy the spirit and warmth of the holidays.
 Whether it's seeing the joy on children's faces as they experience the magic of the season or visiting with seniors in care homes and listening to fond memories of holidays gone by, on a more personal note, I look forward to spending time with my family, as we celebrate Christmas.
 We'll gather together in Regina, Indian Head and Humboldt. We will celebrate Christmas, we'll exchange gifts and, while we look forward to the year ahead, we'll reflect on the past year.

 I'm also looking forward to finding some time to get out on our cross-country skis and enjoy the winter scenery of this beautiful province.
 However you celebrate during this season, all of us take time to turn our thoughts to consider those who have struggled over the past year—whether it was through the loss of a job, the loss of a loved one, wild fires, floods or tragedies around the world.

 We all join together in wishing for peace and happiness in 2018.
 The season's spirit of love, peace, and goodwill toward others are universal. These are the values at the heart of what we all want it to mean to be from Saskatchewan.
 Looking out for one another, caring for the most vulnerable, welcoming newcomers with open arms, and comforting those who are sick or suffering is how we can continue building together toward a stronger and fairer Saskatchewan.
 However you are celebrating this holiday season, on behalf of myself, my family, and the official opposition Saskatchewan NDP, I wish you and your loved ones a holiday season filled with love, joy and laughter.
 Merry Christmas, happy holidays, and all the best in the new year.

Sick Rudolph

One day Rudolph caught a cold. Santa decided to get a substitute reindeer. It was Alex the pink nose reindeer. Rudolph hates Alex so Rudolph said to Santa, "I think I am fine now." "Get on then," said Santa. Rudolph was going too slow so Santa turned around. "Rudolph, I think you should stay home," said Santa. "But Santa," said Rudolph. "Don't but Santa me," said Santa. "Alex come here I need you to guide my sleigh tonight." "I was waiting for this day to come," said Alex. "No one cares," Santa replied.
 Rudolph was sad, "Santa always said guide my sleigh to me, I guess he forgot about me." Rudolph lost his temper. He flew up in the sky and he took the presents. "Hey those aren't yours," Santa yelled. Rudolph said, "Okay Santa." Rudolph passed out and Santa caught him and went back home to bed, nice and snug. Now we have no presents for Christmas. I will tell the elves to make more. Rudolph had an idea, he went and grabbed the presents and fixed them up. Santa I already have presents "Ho, ho, ho," Santa said, "you saved Christmas."

Letter To Santa

Dear Santa Claus,
 Hello Santa! My name is Peyton Glass and I am a student in grade three at MacLeod Elementary School I have a sister and a brother. One is older than me and one is younger than me. My favorite thing to do in the winter is to go snowboarding and to bake with my grandma obviously for you. I really, really like dogs and cats so if you could get me one it would make my day.

Well Santa, I want to apply for the gift wrapping job because I think it would be fun. I could wrap anything I want. Well I guess just presents. And I think all my friends are going to apply for this job as well.

Sincerely,
 Peyton

Please don't eat the gingerbread!

I love making gingerbread houses. It might be the fact that you get to be creative. It might be that I get to spend three full hours in my kitchen with my kids.

OR, it might be that I get to buy all of that delicious candy...and eat it.

My son, who is WAY PAST gingerbread-making age now, used to come up with fairly simple designs, but very complex decorating techniques. He and his friends decorated many a square gingerbread house, but they'd do it up right with 'welcome' signs, frosted eaves and interior lighting.

My daughter, on the other hand, likes the design aspect. Two years ago, she challenged her mother to make a carousel, complete with horses suspended on candy canes and moving parts. I'd watched enough Food Network TV to know that all of this is harder than it first appears.

So, I got sneaky. Underneath all of that icing and candy, I learned to put some solid stuff. The carousel sat on a wooden Lazy Susan (covered in tin foil) and the central structure was made of margarine containers (covered in gingerbread). I've learned over the years that a roll of tin foil and a wide-variety of plastic containers go a long way when you're trying to make gingerbread stand up.

Last year, we went with a dinosaur theme. It turned out to be relatively simple as dinosaurs stand up pretty well on tin foil when anchored down by 'cement-like' icing and toothpick legs.

Cristalee Froese

But this year presented a whole new challenge. This year my darling seven-year-old wanted an under-water gingerbread castle fit for a mermaid.

If you were a wiser mother than I, you probably would have said "No honey, that's ridiculous. We can NOT make a gingerbread castle and mermaids."

Buttttt...I'm rather low on the 'wisdom meter' and high on the 'think-like-a-kid meter,' so I jumped right in with both feet.

She began drawing castles on paper while I Googled 'structural' gingerbread recipes. I obviously wasn't the first person to take on this impossible task because what appeared on my screen was a wonderful 'hard-as-rock' gingerbread recipe.

As I boiled the sugar and added the corn syrup for the gingerbread, I did think it was a bit of an odd method. But now that we have a 'standing straight and tall' mermaid castle, I get why gingerbread can be of the 'structural, don't-eat-it' variety versus the 'soft and flavourful'

I took one bite of that gingerbread and spit it out. Then I decided that it didn't really matter what it tasted like, as long as the castle stood up.

We spent all afternoon constructing what is essentially a cardboard box with inedible gingerbread stuck to it.

As for the icing, I Googled that too and got a lard-based version that is inedible as well. Again, I figured for the sake of structural integrity of our castle, we better use it.

So now we have this beautiful castle.

It is strong and tall and sturdy.

It is covered with icing in oceanic shades of blue.

It has a beautiful seashell at the pinnacle of the castle roof.

It is coated with goodies like chocolate chips, gummy whales and Belgian chocolate seahorses. The candies and chocolates look edible, but after being handled by more hands than an octopus has arms, you might not want to eat those either.

When you first see this outstanding gingerbread castle, you might just want to bite into it, or at the very least eat a seahorse off of the front entrance.

However, this castle comes with fine print: Warning: please don't eat the gingerbread...or the icing...or the candies...or the chocolates!

And we mean it.

The Plane Crash On Christmas Eve!

One more day till Christmas Eve and a plane left for California from Regina at 6 pm. It was lost at 6:59 pm on the same day. At 7 am on Christmas Eve it was found close to Rocanville going 332 miles an hour! It landed at 8:12 am. It landed on the rink, 21 toy stores, 11 houses, and the town hall! 16 people killed 26 people injured or hurt and about 167 presents wrecked! All the good stores got destroyed! Most people had only one or two presents! Santa listened to the radio and it said, "Crash! Plane crash! No presents! Christmas is cancelled! No child will be happy."

Santa told his elves. Santa loaded up his sleigh and headed off. When he got to Rocanville he looked at the plane and said, "It's almost morning. Last town." And with a "ho ho ho" he visited every house and headed back to the North Pole. Christmas was saved!

The Missing Present

It was the night before Christmas and it was time for bed. I dreamed of an elephant dancing at Christmas and it got so spooky. I woke up. I went downstairs to the tree. I saw my presents. Then I went up the stairs and I went back into my bed and I fell fast asleep. The next day I ran fast. I went to the tree and all the presents were gone...I searched everywhere even in the toilet and when I got to the last room my little brother's room I found them and also in his arms and the one in his arms was mine. I told my mom and dad and he got in trouble. After that we all opened up our presents. I got the best gift—an Elf on the Shelf. And can you guess who it was? My little brother. He got a little Jack-in-the-box. The Jack flew in the air. It scared him so much he jumped up on the shelf.

The End

Christmas Spirit

At Christmas time grandpa brought a present to our house. Grandpa put it under the tree. When I woke up I went over to the tree and saw the present. I opened the present in the orange box. It was a dinosaur that you can paint. Mom got me paint brushes. I painted it red. It looked really good. After I painted it, I took it apart. Then I put it back together. I phoned Papa Winks and said, "Thank you for the present."

Santa's Big Adventure

Santa, Gingerbread man and Snowman got on to a sleigh and they started flying through the sky. All of a sudden they were stuck in a blizzard. The sleigh broke and they hit the ground.

Gingerbread man flew away with one of the broken pieces from the sleigh. He flew across the world on his broken pieces and crashed into Santa. So the group decided to walk to the North Pole and put presents into an invisible sleigh. Off they flew again delivering to all the children. Merry Christmas to all.

What my Teacher wants for Christmas

I think my teacher wants chocolate because it is yummy. She wants jam because it is sweet. She wants an elf because hers is gone! She wants a wolf because she loves wolves. She wants Expo markers because all of them do not work. She wants a dream catcher so she can dream.

How to Tame a Reindeer

First, offer him a big, juicy orange carrot. Next, brush his fur and give it a shower. Then ride him in the sky over your town. Finally make him a soft bed in the stable.

École St.Lazare 4e

How to get on Santa's Good List

First, you be really nice to everyone. Next, you give a letter to Santa and say nice things and send it to the North Pole. Then you make another letter but this time you put it beside your Christmas Tree. It should say:

Dear Santa,
I've been really nice to everyone, everywhere I go. Please let me go on the nice list. Finally you get to go on the nice list because you were nice!

Élisha Caplan

How to Tame a Reindeer

First, you must travel to northern Canada and get a reindeer. Next, you play with it and brush it so it doesn't have knotty fur.

Then you feed it its favorite food so that he becomes strong. Finally, you pet it so he's calm and then I can pull stuff with him.

Santa Claus 2

Once upon a Christmas there was a guy named Scott who took the place of the old Santa but he had to get married.
 Scott only had 27 days to get married if he didn't get married Christmas would be banished till there is a new Santa.
 Time had passed and he had a substitute Claus while Scott was trying to find a girl. He took cupid the reindeer to Carievale.
 Back at the workshop the other Santa Claus is checking the list and having hot chocolate.
 Later at the work shop he decided to give all the kids coal. So one of the elves flew all the way to Scott. The elf told him that all the elves are being held captive. In the mean time they tried to pull out a tooth because the backup jetpack broke. Then the child came out of her room and said, "I lost my tooth, should I put it under my pillow?" "Yes."
 Time had passed and the tooth fairy came and they got to go to the North Pole. Then they need to get out so they can save Christmas and they got help and the saved Christmas and Christmas went on.

The Night Before Christmas

It was the night before Christmas. I was hanging my stocking, setting up the tree, decorating the tree for Santa to see, getting milk and cookies for Santa to eat. My Elf was watching me while I did my job. I was hoping that Jolly Saint Nicholas would visit my house. I went to bed to sleep until morning. I woke up at seven in the morning then I went to my living room to see if Jolly Saint Nicholas came. NOTHING CHRISTMAS WAS THERE. I searched everywhere. Nothing.
 "Christmas?" I said.
 I was sad. I wonder who did it? I phoned Santa.
 He said, "I did not come to your house because there was nothing Christmas. I thought you did not believe in me."
 "I do," I said.
 I put the Christmas stuff in the living room. "I think I know who did it Santa said." Who? I said. "The Grinch he said. "He stole our Christmas last year I told him. It turns out that is who stole our Christmas THE GRINCH!!!

Letter To Santa

Dear Santa Claus,
My name is Alexa. I have two siblings and three pets. I go to MacLeod Elementary School. My favorite thing to do in winter is going tobogganing. I love Christmas because I love spending time with my family. My favorite toy is a robot that does homework.

I'm applying for a job in your wrapping presents area. I love wrapping Christmas presents because I love to see happy kids. I want this job because I can work long hours and it might take long hours. I am very good at wrapping presents so I thought you might need me.

Some skills I need for wrapping presents are not getting messed in the tape or wrapping paper. I can't forget the bow on top of the present. I need to find the right wrapping paper. And I can't forget to put the card on the present.

Sincerely,
Alexa

Christmas in Regina

On a Christmas Eve night a little girl named Emma could not sleep but finally she fell asleep.

Then she heard a thunk so she went downstairs and saw Santa stuck in the chimney. So she went to wake up her mom and dad to help Santa.

Then they hurried downstairs and they pulled Santa out and Santa said, "Thanks and have a Merry Christmas to all."

But Santa forgot to give Emma her present and she was crying. Three months later Emma's mom drove her to Santa's village and she got her present.

Christmas message from Premier Brad Wall

In 1913, a young immigrant—his name was John—who was a husband and father of three, left behind the oppression of his country forever. He also left behind his family for what he knew might be an extended period of time.

Despite the fears he must have felt for his family, he set out to cross the ocean. To find a place of hope for their future. He came to Saskatchewan.

It took him nine years. He worked hard and he saved hard.

Those nine years were not without hardship and tragedy. And when they were over he no longer had three children. His daughter had died in the influenza epidemic of 1915. Only his two sons remained.

What a bittersweet family reunion it must have been when he managed to send enough money to bring his wife and two sons to join him. Despite their loss and their difficulties their story is still about hope.

Hope that was stronger than the fear of what they had to endure. They saw Saskatchewan as a place to build their future. And turn that dream into reality.

Despite the adversities in the lives of that young immigrant family, that first Saskatchewan Christmas must have been a great celebration.

There was probably not a great deal of wealth in gifts or a great table spread, but there must have been a great deal of wealth and fulfillment in simply being together. And there must have been renewed optimism for the new year dawning.

That has been what we have dared to dream in our province for the last 10 years. That Saskatchewan's story would be about optimism and hope again. And that hope would be stronger than the fear that we aren't good enough, or fear of the unknown.

Instead, we dreamed of a Saskatchewan that would bring our kids home. A Saskatchewan that had confidence in what we have to offer to a new wave and a new generation of immigrants just like John.

Together, that's what we have done. In 2017, a hundred years later, that immigrant family's descendants still live in Saskatchewan.

John's great-grandson and his family will come together in just a few weeks for a traditional ranch Christmas... all because of one man's determination and sacrifice. And because of a place of hope, like Saskatchewan.

And this Christmas, newcomers from the world over will enjoy the holidays in their own way here in Saskatchewan. Because in the last 10 years, newcomers have again found hope here and chose Saskatchewan in record numbers.

To live without fear and to dream of a better future. May we always have that freedom. And may we always have the freedom to celebrate Christmas.

Christmas is the ultimate story of hope because that's what God gave to us all. He sent His son Jesus.

As a tiny baby, He left perfection to endure oppression. Because He loved us. And chose to bring us that hope. That's what I believe this Christmas.

It's the time of year to enjoy the wealth of simply being together with those we love, and the fulfillment of helping someone in need.

And it's the time of year when we are all reminded of the need to spread that hope and love God sent to us. To share it with those around us, especially those in need.

So from me and my wife Tam, and our family, and on behalf of my colleagues in the Government of Saskatchewan, may the Miracle of Christmas bless you, and the True Spirit of Christmas keep you.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

The Boy Who Saved Christmas

Once there was a boy who marked down every day till Christmas. Then a week before Christmas he wrote a note to Santa that said, Dear Santa I was hoping you would get me a new CCM super tacks stick and CCM Ribcor trigger and lots of Nerf guns, please Santa I hope you bring the toys I want.

Then Christmas Eve night he went to bedright after supper and then he woke up and ran upstairs and THERE WERE NO GIFTS! Then he heard ding, ding he went to his phone and all his friends said Santa didn't come. Then he went outside for a walk and he walked for bit THEN HE SAW SANTA and said, "Santa are you here," and Santa said back "yes" then he ran over there and saw SANTA and helped him up and Santa gave him his gifts and hopped in his sleigh and flew off and obviously said, "Ho Ho Ho Merry Christmas."

The Year With No Presents

It was three weeks before Christmas. The school was talking about the gift exchange. Everyone was so excited but me. I had no friends, not one. So I didn't buy for anyone and no one bought for me.

When it was time the principal said, "Everyone come to the gym for the gift exchange!" Everyone ran as fast as they could. That's everyone, everyone but me.

The teacher said, "Come on for the gift exchange."

"No because no one bought for me," I said.

So she went and I stayed.

When I went home my mom said, "How was the gift exchange?"

"Horrible. No one bought for me."

"Oh well, you can open four gifts today," my mom said. "Really? Thanks! I love you mom." I said.

"I love you too. Come on, let's open some presents!"

Santa And The Owl With The Red Nose

'Twas the night Santa and his reindeer were about to take off when a heavy fog came across the North Pole. Rudolph was sick with the cold so he couldn't guide the sleigh through the fog. "Oh no, it looks like Christmas is going to be canceled."

Just as Santa was going to get out of the sleigh a large owl with a red nose flew by. The owl landed on Santa's arm. "I couldn't help but hear you need help to get through the fog," Santa was delighted to have the owl help him. "Then go to the front of the sleigh" said Santa.

The owl led the sleigh through the fog with the help of his red nose. The owl's nose was really bright so all the children got their presents. When Santa was done delivering all the presents he thanked the owl and gave the owl a gift. The owl said to Santa, "This is the best Christmas ever."

Christmas message from the Lieutenant Governor

It is my great pleasure to extend greetings on behalf of Canada's Queen as we mark this special time of year.

I can hardly believe it has been nearly six years since I became Saskatchewan's 21st Lieutenant Governor. It has been an extraordinary privilege to represent our Head of State, and to meet the remarkable people of Saskatchewan. I have been especially honoured to serve as our nation commemorates the 150th Anniversary of Confederation.

This is also the 100th Anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, when thousands of Canadians served together for the first time. That remarkable victory was a pivotal moment in our history, and the international community recognized the critical contributions of Canadians. To this day, many communities in Europe honour the graves of our soldiers, who sacrificed everything to bring an end to war. A century later, Canadians continue to serve in our military, our police forces, as paramedics, firefighters, corrections officers, and border guards. I am grateful to all our men and women in uniform for honouring the legacy handed down to us by those young men who served at Vimy, 100 years ago.

As we mark this milestone year, we must acknowledge that Indigenous peoples have called this land home for thousands of years. It has been my great privilege to walk beside Elders and Chiefs in the grand entries of pow wows, to take part in a sweat lodge, and to be welcomed into First Nations communities. I am grateful to Indigenous peoples who have looked upon Canada 150 as an opportunity to create bridges of understanding. As Gord Downie said on Parliament Hill on July 1, "Now we begin a new 150 years."

It is my sincere hope that the people of Saskatchewan will embrace this new beginning, and will reach out to those who may be different than us. It is my prayer that we will work together to create more inclusive communities, where everyone is welcome. Only we have the power to create the change we need in our country.

Over the past six years, I have presented hundreds of awards to deserving individuals. There are many more who may not receive public recognition, but who give of their time and their resources to improve the lives of others. To all the generous and capable Saskatchewan volunteers, I thank you, from the bottom of my heart, for making our province better. You are proof that we are each able to make a difference, and that when we work together, no challenge is too great.

One of the things I love most about this time of year is spending time with my family. I also love Christmas carols. I'd like share a few lyrics from one of my favorites.

Let peace begin with me
 Let this be the moment now.
 With every step I take
 Let this be my solemn vow.
 To take each moment
 And live each moment
 With peace eternally.
 Let there be peace on earth,
 And let it begin with me.

From my family to yours, Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays. May the coming year be filled with joy and with peace.

May Christmas and the new year bring wonderful moments to you all.
 Happy holidays!

My Christmas

Our family has Christmas traditions that we all enjoy from year to year. My Christmas tradition is on Christmas Eve my sister, my brother and I place the Santa key on the handle of the front door of our house. The Santa key is what Santa uses to get in our house. Then we pick one of our favorite cookies and put it on a special Santa plate. We fill a special Santa cup full of milk.

When we wake up on Christmas morning, I always wake up first. Then we are allowed to look in our stockings. Afterwards when everybody is awake we open all of our presents. Then my dad makes pancakes. Sometimes he makes them plain or with chocolate chips. With the pancakes we have bacon, hash browns and juice.

Later on, on Christmas Day, my mom and grandma start to prepare our Christmas feast. While my dad and grandpa visit, my brother, sister and I play with our presents. Once the feast is cooked we chomp away. The feast usually includes turkey, potatoes, stuffing, buns and many more delicious foods. After dessert, which is usually pumpkin pie, we say good bye to our grandparents. Then we put our pyjamas on and watch a Christmas movie. We enjoying some popcorn and drinks!

I love the way my family celebrates Christmas!

My Christmas Tradition

My Christmas tradition is celebrating Jesus' birth. At the church service on Christmas Eve, members from catechism sing Christmas songs. When my family gets home, we watch Christmas movies. When I am good, my parents buy me a present for Christmas. We make Christmas ornaments on Christmas Eve as a family. Sometimes my brother and I stay up to try to see Santa.

The Twins Magical Christmas

The night before Christmas when all the kids were getting ready for Santa, Sally was getting milk, Eva was baking cookies with her mom and Luke was already sleeping. The twins, Sam and Pam were trying to catch Santa! Everyone thought Sam and Pam were crazy.

It was 10:00 pm and everyone was asleep except for Sam and Pam. Pam was building a fort and Sam was making Christmas cookies and hot chocolate. Pam started watching Christmas movies and Sam came rushing downstairs with the snacks. Pam started drinking her hot chocolate with two giant marshmallows and a candy cane. Sam started eating the Christmas cookies.

It was 11:30 p.m and Sam and Pam were bored. Sam and Pam started to hear bell noises. "What was that?" Sam whispered. "It's Santa!" Pam shouted. Sam covered Pam's mouth. Santa yelled, "A guitar for Sam and an iPhone for Pam." Santa said, "I have to run." Then he disappeared.

Rudolph Lost His Glow

Once upon a time in the North Pole Santa was checking his naughty and nice list, when Rudolph knocked on the door. "Come in," said Santa. Rudolph busted down the door yelling, "My nose my nose it lost its glow, help me Santa help me!" "Wo wo wo, slow down, what's your problem?" said Santa. "My nose stopped glowing, help me Santa," said Rudolph. So Santa said "Okay."
Santa walked over to Rudolph and started to twist it. Half an hour later it turned on and Rudolph jumped around yelling to his friends, "It's glowing, it's glowing," and they all lived happily ever after.

The Stocking Was Missing

Last night Kristy hung my stocking over my fireplace. Kristy made it perfect. Then Kristy went to bed.

The next morning when Kristy got up IT WAS GONE! Kristy thought Santa ate it. Kristy thought Santa stole it. I thought, well that's all I thought. But still it was tragic.

Well I thought my elf hid it and was right my elf Bobbaloo hid it in my room.

The Goat Who Saved Christmas

There once was a goat named Runner who lived in the North Pole. Runner was a very special goat. Runner was special because she lives with Santa's reindeer. It was Christmas Eve and Rudolph was sick. Santa was so worried because he did not have the front reindeer. So Santa went to ask his stable elf and asked if Rudolph could still fly his sleigh tonight.

The stable elf said no he is way too sick to fly your sleigh tonight. Well then I can't fly my sleigh tonight. Christmas was destroyed Santa said, "Well I'm going to have a glass of milk and some cookies to go with it."

Santa was sad because Christmas was destroyed. "I have an idea," Santa said to Mrs. Claus. "What is it," Mrs. Claus said. "You'll see," Santa said. Santa ran to the stable as fast as he could. He asked the stable elf if Runner could fly his sleigh tonight. "Great Idea Santa." "Runner saved Christmas," Santa said. "Christmas is not destroyed any more thanks to Runner," Santa said. Santa told Mrs. Claus his idea and said, "I have to go, bye." That is how Runner saved Christmas.

WE CARE... Your Family Drug Store

The night before Christmas...

Each Christmas eve, every year we go to church. After we come home and open one of our presents. In the present we get cozy, warm pajamas. We have a little snack and watch Elf and lots more. Then we put out the cookies, milk and carrots for Santa and the reindeer. We all hurry to bed so Santa can come soon.

I wake up at 7:30 in the morning and run downstairs. Presents are under the Christmas tree. I run back up stairs and tell my sister to wake up. She tells me to leave her alone but I don't. We open presents one by one and thank my family for the gifts that they gave us. Then we start making breakfast. Breakfast is always super good we make my grandma's pancakes with berry sauce, oranges, eggnog and bacon.

We play with our new toys they are so fun. My mom tells us it is time to do chores so we hurry and do them. When we get back my mom is making supper it is always tasty there is usually turkey, gravy, cranberries, stuffing, jello salad and fruit salad. For desert we have pie with ice cream, cookies or cheese cake.

We decorate the house with lights, ornaments, a tree, presents, candles, nativity scene and lots more. We play games like Monopoly, Master Mind, Connect 4 and checkers too. We also go sledding and skating with my family. But you know Christmas is not about presents it is about giving and caring but most of all celebrating Jesus' birthday.

Letter to Santa

Dear Santa,
 My name is Rihanna. I am a student from grade three. My favorite food is cookies and milk. I hate bell peppers. I also hate whole apples. I have one sister and a fish that died... well my dad killed my fish. My dad is really funny. My sister is really kind. My mom is really nice.

If I work there when I grow up I would wrap presents because I always want to. My mom, dad, and auntie can and it looks fun!

My skill for this job is read, learn to wrap presents, and take care of Santa. Also learn how to write, learn to make toys, and learn to be responsible, and you to tell time.

Sincerely,
 Rihanna

Santa Never Came

Jake woke up at his house. There were no presents.
He was sad.

Jake took a sleigh to the North Pole. He looked around and he saw Santa stuck under his sleigh. Jake pushed away the sleigh.

Santa said, "Thank you!"

Santa yelled, "Ho, ho, ho!" and he flew away to deliver presents.

Jake saved Christmas.
